Jeffrey Court's Chapter 4, Antico Portuguese, is a wonderful collection of colorful handpainted tiles that keep the tradition of Western European tiles alive. Three color ways – traditional, contempo and terra – mimic the tile patterns adorning very old European interior and exterior facades, but feature updated color palettes that appeal to today's design needs.

The handpainted tiles, made in Southern California, are crafted by true artisans. They feature variation between pieces that look just like ones made in Portugal centuries ago. Matching field tiles with large, rustic architectural mouldings allow for colorful interior and exterior environments and are suited for any residential to light-duty commercial floor and wall application. Unglazed flashed terra cotta tiles are ideal for heavy commercial installations. Chapter 4 is also designed to work with many of the other Jeffrey Court ceramic and stone Chapters.
